AMUSEMENTS

WILLIAM FARNUM AT THE BUTLER TODAY

Is William Farnum more pleasing when he laughs with joy, or when, in darker moments on the screen, his expressive features take on a look of seriousness or sadness? The question is prompted by his performance in "The Joyous Troublemakers," a William Fox production which presents the popular film star in a new sort of role.

As the title suggests, this is a picture in which the famous Farnum smile predominates. But it contains strikingly dramatic passages. There are thrills as well as laughs.

"The Joyous Troublemakers" is a very fine production from every point of view. The story is of a youth who finds gold by accident where men long have sought it in vain. The greed and jealousy of the thwarted seekers make wealth a dangerous possession; but the possessor in this case smiles through it all, until, one day, something happens that involves the girl he loves. Then he frowns, and stirring events follow fast and furious. It is a role somewhat different from those to which Farnum has been accustomed recently, but it fits him like a glove.

Added to the program will be a two-reel Sunshine comedy, "Hold Me Tight," rounding out a show that is hard to beat.

Tomorrow, Eugene O'Brien, in "A Wonderful Chance," a crook story with a flavor of love and romance. Monday, Carpenter, the French champion, in "The Wonder Man."

SNOW INTERRUPTS AIR MAIL SERVICE

Snowstorms to the east and west of Reno played havoc with the air mail service Monday. Promptly at 6:30 in the morning Pilot Ray Little, clad in his special suit equipped with an electric heating device, hopped away from San Francisco with the eastbound mail, but he had not reckoned sufficiently with the elements, for when he drew near to the Sierras he found that the snow clouds were thick and blinding. In an effort to rise above them he drove his powerful plane to an altitude of 15,000 feet, yet even at this great height he saw no way out of his difficulties. So he turned around and sought again the clear air of the lowlands, coming down at Stanford at 9:55 without mishap. No ships left the Reno station, and reports from the east showed that Eaton, who came on to Elko from Salt Lake City, had to battle against snow for a portion of the distance.

SUMMIT ROAD IS BLOCKED BY SNOW

Sunday evening saw the passing of probably the last automobiles to take the Summit road, says the Journal. Two feet additional snow was reported to the Nevada Highway association Monday, and unless a decided thaw should set in, the Donald, Summit and Auburn roads will be closed for the winter. Through telephonic communication the association has been advised that a considerable snowfall has blocked traffic on the Placerville road, with very little likelihood that the road will be passable before spring.

Automobilists held in Reno can reach Sacramento by way of Susanville, although the road is slippery and non-skid chains should be put on before starting. From Susanville it is still possible to cross the mountains by way of Red Bluff.

MILITARY FUNERAL FOR RENO SOLDIER

Chauffeur Ernest Twaddle, soldier boy of Reno, who made the final sacrifice "carrying on" in France, was borne to his last resting place Monday afternoon.

Services were held at Trinity Episcopal church, Reno, with Rev. H. R. Sanborn of Sparks officiating. The service used was the Episcopal form for soldier dead.

The services were attended by members of the ladies' auxiliary, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, and the American Legion.

Interment took place at Mountain View cemetery under full military honors. The sharp crack of the rifles of the firing squad and the saddened notes of "taps" completed the homecoming of the first of the Nevada soldier dead to be returned to the land for which they fought and died.

FRED SKINNER WANTS PAROLE

The board of pardons devoted the Monday morning session to the Fred Skinner case, he having applied for parole, says the Carson Appeal.

A brother from Seattle and a sister from Los Angeles appeared before the board and urged the granting of the parole asked for. It is understood that if a parole should be granted that the brother of the northwest is to look after Skinner and will see to his future financially, also financial employment.

A number of other applications are to be heard during the afternoon session. The board will be in session practically all of this week.

The Fred Skinner to whom the above refers was sentenced to the penitentiary for a term of 50 years on March 8, 1910, for the murder of Mona Bell at Rhyolite on January 4, 1908. Previous to this sentence he had been tried and sentenced to life imprisonment on April 1, 1908, and was granted a new trial in October, 1909. His testimony was that the woman had shot him and that he then shot her, but other testimony was to the effect that the killing had been cold-blooded. During his imprisonment in the state penitentiary Skinner staged a spectacular escape but was recaptured some time later.

MASON VALLEY CROPS LARGE

Last Tuesday George Martin finished threshing the grain in Mason valley. According to his figures he handled 31,741 bushels of wheat, 14,593 bushels of barley and 554 bushels of oats, which, in comparison with the past years is considered an excellent yield for the acreage which was planted to these grains.

The threshing outfit was kept busy for 45 days and the largest crop of barley was that of George Friedhoff with 76 tons, while Romeo Rosachi had 26 tons of wheat.

The average yield was 55 bushels of barley to the acre and 30 bushels of wheat. The greater part of the new crop was contracted to the new mill of the Farmers' Mill & Feed company, which started grinding last week—Mason Valley Times.

ELKO GETS MOST OF FOREST FUND

CARSON CITY, Nov. 10.—Nevada's share of national forest receipts from the Dixie, Eldorado, Tahoe, Humboldt, Inyo, Mono, Nevada and Toiyabe forests, amounting to 25 per cent of the total receipts from those forests, has been announced by the government for the fiscal year ending June 30, and the funds derived therefrom have been apportioned to the counties of the state according to the acreage in each county. The money received is divided equally for school and highway funds.

Elko county receives $14,247, the largest share of the receipts, and Washoe county is enriched to the extent of $258.86. Four counties have no forest acreage and do not participate. The shares of the various other counties are as follows:

Clark, $204.40; Douglas, $195.37; Esmeralda, $148.35; Eureka, $342.42; Humboldt, $3,786.49; Lander, $688.86; Lincoln, $54.47; Lyon, $129.53; Mineral, $2,208.45; Nye, $4,078.98; White Pine, $2,356.31.

LINCOLN REPUBLICAN ON HEAD OF TICKET

Reports from Pioche indicate that while the county was carried by the Republicans on the national ticket, the Democrats were mainly successful on the county ticket. The most notable victory of the Democrats was the retirement of Dr. J. D. Campbell, Republican, as a member of the state senate, he being defeated by Attorney A. L. Scott, Democrat.

Oddie and Arentz carried the county by but a few votes.

(By Associated Press) SCOTIA, Cal., Nov. 9.—A community motion picture where patrons vote on plays to be presented and the profits are to be divided among the various civic enterprises, is a feature of this little town tucked away in the redwood forests of northern California.

There is nothing makeshift or temporary about this project. The architect who designed one of the most widely known theatres on the Pacific coast was engaged to design this one, which is built entirely of redwood with bark-clad tree trunks for porch posts.

The equipment is of the best and the lighting is so ingeniously worked out that a spectator could, if he would, read a newspaper during the progress of the performance. The management is vested in a committee consisting of the head of the Men's Club of Scotia, the head of the Scotia hospital and the head of the Scotia fire department. The last named organization, instead of playing checkers in its spare time, devotes itself to furthering recreational activities in Scotia. Hence its "cut" in the theatre proceeds, which are divided three days after deducting interest in the investment and a proper amount of depreciation.

All patrons are invited to notify this committee as to what plays and incidental music they most enjoy, the only suggestion of a limitation being a request from the committee "that we get the best there is." Travel pictures and high and low comedy appear to be the favorites thus far.

Funds for the erection of the theatre and a site were provided by a local milling concern.
